What's New in the?

HTML-CONCEAL is a utility for web developers which encrypts and compresses their HTML files, making it difficult to view the html source, and copying HTML contents, but still allowing the resulting webpage to be displayed in a Java compatible web browser without affecting it's functionality or viewing. What makes HTML Conceal different from other similar products on the market is that the converted HTML files are stored in compressed state. This saves space and bandwidth. In other words, it converts a typical 350k HTML file to a 6k HTML file, with the same functionality, while protecting your web art work and contents from thieves.
