Q: Where to put Z3 library in a multi-module project I have a problem to include Z3 library in my multi-module project. From what I understood, Z3 is a library, that require the main C library. So, the library resides in /usr/lib/libz3.so. I have 2 projects : a core project that includes my main C library and a Z3 project that I would like to include the Z3 library in my core project. I'm using z3 from the standard repository. The problem is that the core project and the Z3 project reference each other to build. So I need to link the Z3 project with the core project. I tried that like this :

1. core.mod.cpp #include int main(int argc, char  argv) { (void)argc; (void)argv; Z3_context context; Z3_status status = Z3_init_context (&context); if (status!= Z3_SUCCESS) { printf("Z3 init failed "); return 1; } Z3_goal g; Z3_int32 r; (void)Z3_parse_smtlib2_string("(declare-const x Int)"); // int x = Z3_get_const_value(context, g, "x"); // printf(" x is %d ", x); Z3_goal_t g2 = Z3_goal_new_string("(and (not (x #0x7fffffff)) (or (= x 1cb139a0ed
